Mèreadesso's New Beautiful Body Balm Quenches Your Skin

I am getting savvier as I get older.

I know that what goes onto your skin also goes into your body, so you only want to put the GOOD stuff, the stuff that will nourish your body and keep it looking fine, no matter what your age.

That's why you're going to love Mèreadesso's New Beautiful Body Balm.

According to Creator Linda Stephenson - a former cosmetics executive - this rich formula contains "a potent mix of minerals, antioxidants, vitamins, enzymes and botanical extracts."

In other words, aloe vera, white tea extract and minerals such as magnesium, zinc, manganese and cooper work to renew your skin from the inside out. You get soft, smooth skin, without the wrinkles and uneven skintone.

The balm absorbs quickly, without any greasy residue and you're left with supple skin and a light, fresh citrus scent.

I like to slather it on right after my shower and no need to reapply throughout the day - you'll be feeling soft and touchable from morning to night.

Be sure to try Mèreadesso's Face + Neck Toning Cleanser and Face + Neck Toning Gel, because we both know there's no point in having great skin all over your body when you've got a turkey's neck.

Ech.

Shop now and look good this summer.

Really, really good.
