Beauty Find | Mèreadesso Woman

Sorry everyone, I have been MIA over the past month..I was in the lovely city of Old Quebec for the past week, and I had been given a rather hectic schedule at ACF Magazine...nevertheless, I am excited and anxious to see my work in the upcoming fall issue!

Find Me On

Now moving on...

I have recently discovered a great beauty brand. Created by a former cosmetics exec, this product is not only Canadian but also a single-step system that fits all women's skin types. Women of all ages and ethnicities can reduce the look of fine lines and wrinkles, even out skin tone, improve elasticity, reduce the look of dark circles and help clarify skin—all with one lavish product. Mind you I am very wary of the likes of one step wonder creams or magic potions that claim to cure everything (well, because they normally don't). Mèreadesso however, has exceeded my expectations by far.

I must note here that what I love most about Mèreadesso is that their products (the facial cleanser, toning gel and body balm) all have healthy ingredients. The facial cleanser takes off make up effortlessly, it is definitely en par with Shu Uemura's celebrity product, the Cleansing Oil. Lightweight and non-foaming, the cleanser acts as a makeup remover, mask, scrub and toner all in one.

From Bulgarian rose oil which helps reduce redness and puffiness to Jojoba seed oil which helps break down make-up for easy removal, the formula of the cleanser works well with all skin types: dry, oily, combination and even those with sensitive or blemished skin.

The toning gel is an aloe based product that acts as a moisturizer, eye cream, toner and make-up primer. The single step skincare solution combines a sensitive blend of 16 botanical extracts, 7 minerals, a complex of vitamins and enzymes, and over 20 different antioxidants. Sourced from around the world, the ingredients were chosen based on purity, potency and efficacy.

I've been using the facial cleanser and toning gel for a little over a month. I have yet to get a chance to try the body balm, but I will keep you posted! On top of my daily 2 L of water followed with a low sodium diet, I am beyond ecstatic to say that the condition of my skin has improved drastically. Hydrated, glowing, and not a single pimple in sight. That is not to say that I no longer enjoy my old Chanel Hydramax routine, but at merely a portion of Chanel's cost and sans the hassle of slathering several layers of cream, toner and gel onto my face, it is safe to say that I have found a new beauty favourite.
